PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The proposed project is an amendment to the General Plan to update the Housing and Safety Elements and establish a new Environmental Justice Element. The update to these elements ensures that the City has a plan for the provision and maintenance of adequate housing, the risks from natural and man-made hazards to people and property are minimized, and that residents in disadvantaged communities have access to safe and sanitary housing, quality food options, recreational opportunities, and a voice in local government.

BACKGROUND

General Plan

The General Plan is the blueprint for future growth and development of the City. It sets forth policies and objectives in several policy areas including land use, housing, recreation and open space, conservation, safety, noise, air quality, and circulation. The City Council adopted the General Plan in May 1970 and last comprehensively updated the plan in 1990. California law requires that cities and counties prepare General Plans to address the mandated elements listed in Government Code section 65302. The Housing Element, last updated in 2013, has separate statutory requirements for required updates every eight years. State law requires that cities review and revise the Safety Element upon adoption of a new Housing Element and adopt an Environmental Justice Element when updating two or more elements.

The California Housing and Community Development Department (HCD) and Office of Planning and Research (OPR) have guidelines for the preparation and adoption of General Plans that expand upon the statutory requirements and provide best practice guidance for the preparation and adoption of General Plans.

Public Outreach

The General Plan Amendment has been underway since April of 2020. During this time, several public input and outreach efforts including virtual meetings, surveys, group presentations and stakeholder interviews were conducted to gain meaningful input into the update of each element. Due to Covid-19 restrictions on public gatherings, traditional in-person outreach was not an option and most outreach was conducted via virtual platforms. An attachment to this report summarizes all of the outreach conducted as part of this project.

DISCUSSION

Planning Commission Recommendations

The Planning Commission provided feedback on the draft Elements at the June 15, 2021 meeting. The table below summarizes each topic and identifies the policies that address each issue, if a new policy was added in response, and additional information in response.

	Planning Commission Input	Discussion, Policies & Programs EJ - Environmental Justice SF - Safety
1	Keep old-growth trees whenever possible. Further, what is being done to encourage planting of trees, especially with new housing development (example of tree	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • EJ 1.5B - Trees in new development • EJ 1.7A - Prioritize tree planting for shade • EJ 2.1B - Prioritize tree planting and maintenance at transit stops • SF 2.1 - Promote urban forest • SF 2.1A -Incentivize retention of mature trees grove in 300 El Cajon Blvd. project)?	Two large projects currently approaching final design for the Transit District area will install around 200 trees total. The Broadway Creek Restoration Project will install over 230 new trees in a disadvantaged community. The City Council has also approved a project focused on adding trees, landscaping and other aesthetic improvements at the city's entryways - the project will be funded through American Rescue Plan funding.

2	Convert portions of the existing concrete water channel to a natural channel with emphasis on areas that are accessible and usable by the community.	Current efforts focus on the restoration of existing earthen channels. A large creek restoration project is underway now, the Broadway Creek Restoration Project. This is a five-phase project that will restore almost one mile of creek bed along a sensitive waterway tributary to Forrester Creek and the San Diego River.
3	Are there opportunities for incentives or partnership to create or maintain community garden(s)?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • EJ 3.1A - Edible school yards • EJ 3.1B - Promote community gardens • EJ 3.1C - Use vacant lots for gardens Community gardens are permitted generally in residential and commercial zones subject to performance standards.
4	Consider programs or grant programs to assist with utilities cost for lower income households.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • SF 2.3A - Weatherization programs (rehab grants) • Utility Assistance Program (temporary) offers need-based financial assistance • Housing Rehabilitation Loan Program and the Critical Home Repair Program can assist lower income households with energy efficiency upgrades.
5	What are the incentives for owners to invest in solar?	GRID Alternatives (nonprofit) assists with the installation of solar on affordable housing projects.

	Planning Commission Input	Discussion, Policies & Programs
6	Addressing maintenance of sidewalks, especially areas with raised sidewalks (Magnolia Avenue in particular). Also addressing any areas of sidewalk that are overgrown.	EJ - Environmental Justice SF - Safety <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • EJ 2.2E – beautification projects for streets/sidewalks Repairing sidewalk segments that pose a health and safety threat to residents is an extremely high priority for the City. Annually, Public Works completes approximately $500,000 in concrete improvements to address sidewalk repairs. In this fiscal year, $108,000 has been budgeted for sidewalk slicing (to address tripping hazards) as well as $785,000 for full replacement of concrete improvements, sidewalk included.
7	What efforts are being made to ensure children are wearing helmets while bicycling?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • New Policy EJ 2.1G The City has a Safe Routes to School Caltrans grant funded program which expired on June 30, 2021. Rady Children’s Hospital is the City’s consultant working directly with the Cajon Valley Union School district. They promoted pedestrian and bicycle safety at approximately 12 elementary and middle schools. The Recreation Department received a Shared Streets SANDAG grant for two facilities (Renette Center & Kennedy Park) which encourages more walking and biking within the community.
8	Safety and cleanliness surrounding the transit center needs to be addressed. Are there opportunities to partner with businesses in the area to address some of the localized issues – Casino Connection mentioned specifically?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • EJ 2.1E – trolley station/bus stop maintenance Casino Connection is no longer operating across from the transit station. The Transit District Specific Plan contains policies addressing cooperative efforts by property owners to address maintenance in the area.
9	What is being done to implement safe places to park for persons experiencing homelessness?	This is listed as one of the potential programs in the Housing Element to address homelessness. Staff has been working with homeless service providers to identify a location for safe parking.

Safety Element

Overview

The Safety Element is one of the state-mandated General Plan Elements. The Safety Element addresses six hazards: air pollution, extreme heat, flooding, geologic hazards, hazardous materials, and wildfires. For each hazard, this assessment explains what the hazard is and what causes it to occur in El Cajon; when the hazard occurs, including if the hazard is seasonal or is forecast to get worse as a result of climate change; where in El Cajon this hazard is most likely to occur; who is most vulnerable to each hazard; and how the City is already addressing this hazard and how this can be built upon and improved in the future.

Government Code section 65302(g) states that a Safety Element must provide for protection of the community from any unreasonable risks associated with the effects of seismic and geologic hazards, flooding, and wildland and urban fires (Office of Planning and Research 2017). Senate Bill 379, adopted in 2015, requires that Safety Elements be revised by 2022 to include relevant climate adaptation and resiliency strategies.

Draft Element

The Safety Element contains goals, policies and actions that the City will undertake to address the greatest risks to El Cajon in the next 20 years. It also guides how El Cajon is built to ensure reduction in the risk from hazards by regulating building in hazardous areas, ensuring streets are adequate for fire trucks and first responders, and using trees and green spaces to improve El Cajon's air quality and provide shade on hot days.

The Safety Element contains seven overarching goals intended to protect residents and property from hazards by improving air quality, increasing the amount of green infrastructure for shade, ensuring that the buildings are constructed to safety standards, promoting community safety by preparing residents for emergencies, and prioritizing emergency response and public safety.

Environmental Justice

Overview

Legislation adopted in 2016, Senate Bill 1000, requires both cities and counties that have disadvantaged communities to incorporate environmental justice (EJ) policies into their general plans. This requirement recognizes that lower income communities of color in California experience higher burdens of environmental pollution. The EJ Element focuses on areas designated as Disadvantaged Communities, which are census tracts with few resources that are disproportionately affected by environmental pollution and other hazards that can lead to negative health effects. The draft goals, policies, and actions are required to reduce health risks in these communities by addressing improvements to air quality, access to public facilities, food access, safe and sanitary homes, and physical activity.

There are crossover goals and policies in the EJ, Safety, and Housing Elements that address specific needs of vulnerable groups as they pertain to safety concerns, access to housing and compliance with state housing law. Where applicable, policies may be cross-referenced between each element.

Environmental Justice Communities

Two primary areas, encompassing eleven census tracts, have been identified as Environmental Justice Communities (EJC). Two of the census tracts were identified because they scored in the 75 percent percentile or above in the CalEnviroScreen assessment tool, which identifies communities most affected by pollution such as poor air quality. An additional nine lower-income census tracts were identified due to their ranking in the bottom 25 percent of census tracts in the California Healthy Places Index, which uses indicators that assess the livability of a location. The EJ Element assesses each primary area and identifies specific issues of concern for each community.

Policy Framework

Public outreach efforts with EJ community members identified desires for cleaner streets and parks, better sidewalks and lighting, park improvements, more traffic safety, more bike lanes, more trees and shade, access to healthy foods, and better maintained housing.

The proposed policies and actions highlight some of the programs the City is already doing to improve quality of life such as the apartment inspection program and the tobacco retailer enforcement program that ensures safe housing and reduces minors' access to tobacco and associated products (vaping). In addition, the policies and actions identify opportunities to use existing City resources such as public information resources to raise awareness of issues that impact public health. Other policies are intended to guide development to limit the placement of new land uses that have negative health impacts or to mitigate the public health effect of the environment such as poor air quality on new residential uses. One of the primary purposes of the EJ Element is to ensure that the City takes into consideration and prioritizes the specific needs of the EJ communities while making decisions to fund programs or projects within neighborhoods.

Housing Element

Overview

The Housing Element analyzes the need for new housing, specifically the types of housing for various groups such as seniors or the unhoused; identifies constraints to building new housing; contains a list of sites where new housing can be built; and programs that are intended to increase the production of housing. Unlike other elements in the General Plan, it is more technical in nature with a prescribed format. It was last updated in 2013 and must be updated every eight years in compliance with state law. The Housing Element consists of several mandated sections including: Assessment of Housing Needs, Site Inventory and Analysis, Constraints, and Programs.

Demographic Trends and Population Characteristics

The City of El Cajon's population has been growing slowly with an approximately five percent increase in population for each of the last two decades. Although population growth has been modest, the number of persons living in each household has increased to 3.06 persons per household, an indicator for potential overcrowding or doubling up due to high housing costs.

El Cajon's population is younger than surrounding communities are. The median age is 34 years compared to a countywide median of 35.6. Families with children also make up a large percentage of the population, 35 percent of households. Seniors make up nearly 12 percent of the population.

Ethnically, El Cajon has a majority white population with Hispanic/Latino the next largest at 28.5 percent of the population. 44 percent of residents speak a language other than English at home, which indicates a higher percentage of individuals who may be newcomers.

Housing Issues

Housing issues can include physical issues with housing such as a lack of maintenance, overcrowded conditions, and cost burden. Households with lower incomes and those with language barriers or other special challenges may experience more severe or complex housing issues. The Housing Element analysis indicates that housing cost is a significant issue in El Cajon with over 80 percent of extremely low and very low income households and 35 percent of low income households paying over 50 percent of their income on housing.

Special groups also experience housing needs differently. Seniors, individuals with disabilities, large households with five or more members, and single-parent households have unique needs and often face housing affordability issues, inadequate housing types, and discrimination. El Cajon has a high percentage of larger family households (15 percent) and single parent households (11 percent).

Homelessness is a significant and complex issue in El Cajon. The lack of housing affordable to lower income individuals, coupled with unemployment, low wages, addictions, an increase in those living in poverty and reductions to subsidy programs and those serving individuals with mental illness, have greatly exacerbated homelessness. El Cajon's population of 784 homeless individuals (January 2020) far exceeds those of surrounding communities.

Housing Stock

The housing stock consists of 35,850 units, of which approximately 60 percent are renter-occupied. The housing stock is aging with most units constructed over thirty years ago. Housing growth has been modest between one and two percent over each of the last two decades.

Data on housing costs indicate that average rent for a three-bedroom apartment is $2,185 per month. The 2020 median sales price for a home was $557,500. Lower income households, those earning less than $99,800 for a five-person family, struggled to find affordable housing in El Cajon in 2020. Even moderate-income households, those earning up to $120,150 per year, would find purchasing a home challenging.

There are approximately 1,020 subsidized affordable housing units in El Cajon; some are at risk of losing affordability when subsidy program requirements expire.

Housing Constraints

There are a number of economic and governmental constraints that may serve as barriers to affordable housing. Economic constraints include construction and land costs, availability of financing, unemployment rates, and disparities in access to opportunities. Governmental constraints include land use controls such as zoning, development impact fees, building codes and enforcement, permitting, required improvements, and other state or federal policies.

Recent efforts at increasing the capacity for housing development and streamlining approvals have reduced barriers to affordable housing. The Transit District Specific Plan and Mixed-Use Overlay zones, both approved in the last five years, significantly increased the amount of land available for residential development at higher densities and focused those new opportunities in areas served by transit and commercial services. Flexibility was built into these regulations to facilitate infill housing, which can be challenging on smaller lots. The City has also made provisions for transitional and supportive housing and single room occupancy lodging (SRO), which meet important special housing needs.

Sites Inventory

One of the ways that the City can lower barriers to the development of affordable housing is by maintaining an adequate inventory of land that is zoned at appropriate densities for affordable housing. A key component of the Housing Element is the Sites Inventory that identifies specific properties that could be developed with housing. El Cajon received a Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA) of 3,280 units to plan for over the eight years of the housing cycle. This number is further broken down into categories of affordability as shown in the table below.

Table 35: Housing Needs for 2021-2029
Income Category (% of County AMI)	Number of Units	Percent
Extremely Low (30% or less)*	240	7.3%
Very Low (31 to 50%)	241	7.3%
Low (51 to 80%)	414	12.6%
Moderate (81% to 120%)	518	15.9%
Above Moderate (Over 120%)	1,867	56.9%
Total	3,280	100.0%

The first strategy to meet the RHNA and provide affordable housing is to increase the number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU). These smaller companion units can be built in all zones that permit residential areas, including multi-family and mixed-use areas. A total of 146 ADU units are anticipated to be added over the eight-year housing cycle.

To build upon the City’s previous efforts, the remaining sites were selected primarily from the Mixed-Use Overlay (MU) properties and the Transit District Specific Plan area. The methodology used to identify the sites included staff’s knowledge of projects in the planning stages or expressed interest in development, low improvement to land value ratios, low floor area ratios, and properties with older improvements. Most sites do have existing improvements, which can be a challenge for redevelopment. However, El Cajon does not have sufficient vacant land to accommodate the RHNA.

Table 41: Adequacy of Sites to Accommodate RHNA

	Very Low/Low Income	Moderate Income	Above Moderate Income	Total
RHNA	895	518	1,867	3,280

Remaining RHNA	894	372	1,697	2,963

Housing Plan

The overarching housing goal is to: increase, improve, and preserve a variety of safe, decent, affordable housing units meeting the existing and future needs of El Cajon residents of all income levels, including special needs populations.

Underneath this umbrella are specific objectives and policies along with programs intended to ensure that housing in El Cajon meets the needs of residents. These programs include continuing programs such as the proactive multi-family inspection program or the first time homebuyer program. Other actions are for Zoning Code amendments to comply with new state laws or further facilitate housing production.

Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing (AFFH)

On April 27, 2021, the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) released updated guidance for local governments regarding housing element law in AB 686. AB 686 is the framework to affirmatively further fair housing by promoting inclusive communities, furthering housing choice, and addressing racial and economic disparities through government programs.

The requirements under the updated guidance include an in depth assessment of fair housing practices, available housing in low and high resourced areas, and targeted policies and programs to affirmatively further fair housing. Based on HCD policy examples and guidance, a new section has been added to the Housing Element. Some policies include:

- Coordination with fair housing services to distribute landlord educational pamphlets regarding housing choice vouchers.
- Including information regarding incentive and funding opportunities for affordable housing development in planning permit guidance documents.

- Consider an increase in maximum down payment assistance allowed through the First Time Home Buyer Program.
- Continue existing efforts to affirmatively further fair housing by:
 - Continuing the Multi-family Inspection Program
 - Supporting the creation of SROs
 - Continuing to offer mobile home rent remediation
 - Continuing to ensure fair housing services are provided in multiple languages

HCD Review & Certification

The City is required to obtain certification of the Housing Element in order to be in compliance with state law. The deadline to adopt a Housing Element is August 15, 2021. HCD will have 90 days to review the Housing Element after adoption for certification and may require additional revisions based on the new AFFH section. Failure to achieve certification may result in fines and loss of local land use control.

CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT

In compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act, an Initial Study and Negative Declaration was prepared for the project. The study determined that the project would not result in any potentially significant adverse impacts. The project is an amendment to a policy document and does not authorize any construction or development. A Notice of Intent to Adopt the Negative Declaration was published on June 10, 2021, and the document was available for public review June 10, 2021 to July 12, 2021. One comment letter was received from Caltrans. However, no issues were raised in the letter in regards to the adequacy of the environmental document. In compliance with AB 52, notification letters were sent on April 12, 2021 to the tribes who have requested notification. No response was received from the AB 52 notification.

PUBLIC NOTICE & INPUT

Notice of this public hearing was published on July 1, 2021. No responses were received. A comprehensive listing of the public noticing and outreach on this project is an attachment to this report. Public notice including regular website updates, social media posts, publication of notices for workshops, and articles in the El Cajon Gateway.

Notifications were sent to tribes who have a cultural or historical affiliation with land in El Cajon on May 10, 2021. One response was received requesting any cultural resources reports prepared for the project. Staff followed up stating that none were prepared for the project because it is a policy document and does not authorize any construction.

The City worked with the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CAL FIRE) to incorporate policies to minimize the risk of wildfires. The Resource Protection Committee of the California Board of Forestry and Fire Protection reviewed the Draft Safety Element on July 13, 2021 and had no further recommendations.

The draft Safety Element was submitted to the California Department of Conservation, Geological Survey for review on May 24, 2021. Several attempts were made via phone and email to contact the department. No response was received.

The Draft Housing Element was provided to HCD for preliminary review on March 18, 2021, and comprehensive comments were received May 17, 2021. HCD will conduct a final certification review of the Housing Element after adoption. Based on the certification review, additional revisions may be required. Staff has drafted the proposed resolution to allow the Director of Community Development to make non-legislative changes without requiring re-adoption of the Housing Element.

FINDINGS

- A. The City has complied with applicable California Government Code Sections regarding amendments to the General Plan.

The proposed amendment to the General Plan is in conformance with applicable government code sections regarding preparation and noticing procedures. The City notified local Native American Tribes for the purpose of protecting, and/or mitigating impacts to cultural places when a local government is considering a proposal to adopt or amend a general plan and/or a specific plan. The City also submitted the draft Safety Element to the State Board of Forestry and Fire Protection for review and acceptance in compliance with California Government Code section 65302.5(b). The draft Safety Element was also sent to the State Department of Conservation, Geological Survey for review. The Draft Housing Element was submitted to the California Department of Housing & Community Development for the required 60-day review period. Therefore, the City has complied with all noticing procedures.

- B. The proposed General Plan amendment will not be detrimental to the public health, safety, or welfare, and is in the public interest.

The General Plan Amendment will update Housing and Safety Elements of the General Plan and establish a new Environmental Justice Element. The update to these elements ensures that the City has a plan for the provision and maintenance of adequate housing, the risks from natural and man-made hazards to people and property are minimized, and that residents in disadvantaged communities have access to safe and sanitary housing, quality food options, recreational opportunities, and a voice in local government.

C. The proposed General Plan amendment is internally consistent with the remainder of the General Plan, as required by Government Code Section 65300.5.

The proposed amendment to the General Plan is in conformance with Government Code section 65300.5, which requires the general plan and elements and parts thereof comprise an integrated, internally consistent and compatible statement of policies for the adopting agency. The proposed amendment includes elements and policies that incorporate existing goals and direction with current State and environmental requirements pertaining to the Safety, Environmental Justice and Housing Elements.

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that Planning Commission recommend City Council approval of the General Plan Amendment. The updates to the Housing Element and Safety Element and establishment of the Environmental Justice Element is crucial to planning and working toward a future with a high quality of life for all residents and safe and affordable housing in neighborhoods that are prepared for emergencies and disasters.

- A primary safety concern is extreme Heat and programs to mitigate those events
- People identified that they knew how to report issues to the City.

Housing – Safety – Environmental Justice Public Outreach Summary - 3

- Access to city meetings could be improved by offering more convenient times and information in other languages
- The neighborhoods identified as disadvantaged communities may need to be expanded.

Seven individuals participated in the meeting in the April 24th meeting. Comments included:

- More time needs to be spent listening to the community – have a day with the community
- More residential density around the trolley stops is desired along with more affordable housing although it is acknowledged that there is a cost associated with it.
- One non-profit representative identified that community members want to be more involved in planning community projects and that there could be more than 5,000 more new community members in the next ten years due to families moving here.
- Access to fast food options is a constraint to people accessing healthy foods.
- Automated notification of City meetings would be helpful.

Five individuals participated in the April 25th meeting. Comments included:

- More health risk factors need to be looked at.
- Pot shops and alcohol distribution should be factored in to public health analysis.
- Helping lower income households pay for solar panels could help people afford air conditioning. This could be a program to mitigate extreme heat.
- Housing affordability and security are important issues especially due to COVID-19.
- Outreach to people in danger of losing housing to offer assistance to keep them in their homes or find alternative housing would help with housing security.
- An inclusionary housing program to set aside a certain number of new housing units for lower income households should be included.

September 29, 2020 Virtual Community Meeting Summary

Staff presented basic project information and solicited input on community values, housing issues, identification of important community places and access to those places, information on healthy food access, and how community members engage in the community and with elected official. The meeting was also live-streamed on Facebook. Translators provided translation of staff's presentation in Arabic and Spanish. Interactive polls were used throughout the presentation to engage with attendees. Attendees were also invited to speak or share text comments using the chat option. The discussion portion of the meeting include more polls and open-ended questions.

17 individuals participated in the meeting. Comments included:

- Main concerns about the City housing included affordable housing in good condition, high property taxes, affordability, stability, condition and safety.
- The need for housing policies that benefit people and not big companies was shared. It was also mentioned a community priority should be affordable housing that would benefit people in need.

Housing – Safety – Environmental Justice Public Outreach Summary - 4

- Lastly, homeless citizens impact on neighborhoods involving vandalism, safety, and options to assist such as shelters.
- Physical conditions of housing included: Need to update electrical work and plumbing work, roads are being updated more right now but sidewalks are being neglected.
- There are still slow road updates, It would be so cool to have bigger and protected bike lanes.
- Afraid the repercussion of COVID, that rental units will not be repaired as needed.
- A question included “Is there anything we can do to stop companies from buying up houses, adding ADUs, and then selling for a profit? ADUs might be a great way forward--but we need to make sure PEOPLE benefit from that, not companies who drive up property prices higher in order to split a property into a home and an ADU just for more money.”
- People like to walk to the Library, grocery stores (markets), church, and restaurants. Because of the pandemic, people are only walking to places of necessity such as the grocery store.
- People mention going to Santee, Rancho San Diego or La Mesa to shop or for restaurants because of the homeless issue in El Cajon.
- The homeless impact the activity and use of parks “I avoid parks because the homeless are there. I would love to be able to walk in a park. just safety concerns. parks are nearby but the homeless scare me.”
- Most people drive as opposed to walk within the City, many would like to see improved biking opportunities but driving would still be their primary method of transportation.
- There are concerns with certain cross walks within the City with the fear of accidents, in particular Mollison and Ballantyne (school crossing).
- When it came to information about City events or developments, the local magazine was the main resource, as well as some social media “East county magazine is probably the best source of news and information about East County. I heard about this on Facebook.”
- Emergency preparedness: people know they should be prepared, or better prepared, but most are not. There is a concern about families that don't speak English getting accurate, relevant and timely information.
- A requested emergency preparation plan that is easy to comprehend and in multiple languages is recommended.

October 23, 2020 East County Homeless Task Force Shelter Group

- Need more units priced for very low income people who can afford only $300 to $400 per month
