It would be nice to have these also available on Zoom so that we can have translators for our non-English speaking residents and accommodate those of us who do not attend public events. This is a terrible time to host in-person meetings and events. Many of us are still following public health guidelines, especially those of us who work with families in crisis. Thank you for sharing this information with me, David. If you do decide to present these online, I will be happy to pass it along.

Take care,
Carol
